

New Release

Grand Valley State University
Policy Process (PLS 205) Class

For Immediate Release

Date: April 25, 2008

Grand Valley State University Political Science class prepares policy overview report and campaign messaging strategy for M & M Energy's Great Lakes Energy and Research Park

Students in Dr. Chris Petras' Policy Process class received hands-on experience in public policy-making by preparing a policy overview report on alternative energy along with a campaign messaging strategy for the Great Lakes Energy and Research Park project in Gratiot County, Michigan. The policy overview report is a comprehensive document analyzing Michigan's current political environment with regard to energy policy and the benefits of the Great Lakes Energy and Research Park project. Students in the Policy Process class presented their research and recommendations to M&M Energy officials and local officials from Gratiot County, Michigan.

The full report is available online at www.mandmenergy.com.